Everybody's Talking!

Car house: People who have a love of cars, especially those old Volkswagen Beetles that were popular in the 1960s and '70s, will be interested to hear that there is a house near Salzburg, Austria, designed to look like this retro vehicle. The house is the creation of Markus Voglereiter, who wanted a unique living space. The angles and curves of the home are shaped like the car, which appears to have wheels and headlights. The car theme is continued throughout the interior, with stairs appearing to be held up by pistons. Voglereiter made sure he followed all building codes to come up with his small, but efficient, home.

Snowy world: Talk about a dump of snow! The Haisla First Nation village of Kitimaat, British Columbia (CAN), received 109 centimeters (3 feet 6 inches) of snow in a 24-hour period, which literally 'snowed' people into their homes and downed power lines. The area was without power for three days, leaving 5,000 people in the town and surrounding area without electricity. In response, authorities ordered 800 residents to be evacuated. Some stayed with friends, while others were placed in a leisure center in a nearby town. It took quite a while to dig and plow the village out, but in that area of Canada, people are quite accustomed to heavy snowfall.

Big-ticket item: Someone owes a lot of money in parking tickets, but that someone can't be found. The tickets amount to over £14,000 ($21,500 US) and they accumulated when a Mercedes was left untouched for three years in a parking garage in Birmingham, England. It seems no one cared about the vehicle, which was covered in a thick layer of dust. Despite a valiant effort, the owner of the parking garage could not find the owner of the car. Unfortunately, it was damaged and could not be driven out, so it was towed away to the junkyard. If that car were new today, it would be worth approximately £40,000 ($62,000 US).

Long fall: A Dutch man must have had a lucky star following him while on his honeymoon in Sri Lanka. Mamitho Lendas and his wife Linda were in Nuwara Eliya, a popular national park, when he decided to take a photo of Linda. Accidentally, Mamitho took a step backwards and fell from a 1,200-meter (4,000-foot) cliff. However, he managed to hit a tree and ended up falling about 40 meters (130 feet). After three hours of waiting in bushes on the steep slope, the man was rescued by workers who pulled him to safety using ropes. Lendas suffered only minor injuries and he and Linda are thankful to everyone who helped them during the emergency situation.

Did You Know...

Prolific writer: Oscar Wilde, a 19th-century writer from Ireland, wrote many well-known books, including The Picture of Dorian Gray. Among his many famous plays is The Importance of Being Earnest.

Lash life: While eyelashes, especially long ones, are considered to be beautiful in some cultures, they also protect the eyes from dirt. If one lash falls out, it takes approximately seven or eight weeks to grow back.

Carrot top: When most people think of carrots, they think of the color orange. However, carrots come in other colors, too, such as purple, yellow, red, and white.

Seedy snack: Sunflower seeds that are used to make cooking oil are different from sunflower seeds used in the snacks we eat at ball games. The former seeds are black and the latter are striped.

Not a night owl: When people think about owls, they often think about a bird that's awake at night. However, the snowy owl hunts during the day and sleeps at night. These birds have great eyesight for hunting.

On the Lighter Side

Life's golden age is when the children are too old to need babysitters and too young to borrow the family car.

"Never explain – your friends do not need it and your enemies will not believe you anyway." - Elbert Hubbard

The things that come to those who wait may be the things left by those who got there first.

A couple were celebrating their wedding anniversary. As a surprise, their children cooked them a fabulous meal, laid the table beautifully, and then went out leaving a note saying, "Spoil yourselves! Do something we wouldn't do."

The husband looked at the wife and shrugged. "Well, I suppose we could vacuum the living room."

What is the best thing to put in a pie?
 Your teeth.
