Everybody's Talking!

Fiery eruption: The island of Heimaey is the only inhabited island in the Vestmannaeyjar (Westman Islands), off of Iceland's south coast. These islands are volcanic; Helgafell is the volcano on Heimaey. Helgafell was thought to be dormant, so the 5,200 villagers were quite surprised on January 23, 1973, when the mountain erupted in an explosion of burning ash and lava. Luckily, many fishing boats were available to take everyone to the mainland, and no one was hurt. Lava and fire destroyed about 100 homes, but town folk rebuilt, and today the remnants of the eruption are a tourist attraction.

Facebook proposal: A Nigerian man named Chidimma Amedu was tired of trying to find the right woman to marry. So he posted a note on Facebook saying that he wanted to get married, and interested women could reply. The note said that the marriage would take place a week later. One of his Facebook acquaintances, Sophy Ijeoma, responded, thinking it was just a joke. The two barely knew each other, but they made a plan to meet two days later. They instantly fell in love. During the next few days, they visited each other's families, planned a wedding, and tied the knot on the date indicated in Amedu's Facebook "proposal."

Cake creations: Zhou Yi can decorate a cake like no other. The Chinese cake artist molds fondant (a thick paste of sugar and water that can be colored and flavored) into intricate figures, complete with clothing, jewelry, hair, and eyelashes. He places his figures in context, such as a woman sitting on a bench or a man holding a book. Nicknamed "Sugar King," Zhou toils over his work to make it perfect, and may redo certain elements several times. His work, which celebrates Chinese culture, is being recognized worldwide: he won International Best in Show at the 2017 International Cake Competition in Birmingham, England.

Realistic tats: Karol Rybakowski is a Polish artist who learned his craft at the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw. However, Rybakowski does not use his skill in a conventional way. Instead, he tattoos incredibly realistic portraits of people. This talented man plies his trade at the Ink-Ognito studio in Rybnik, Poland. He has created portraits of such famous actors as Jack Nicholson and Bradley Cooper. The arms and legs of his clients are the canvas for images of Charlie Chaplin, guitarist Jimmy Page, and even portraits of pets.

Did You Know...

Slice it up: Love them or hate them, avocados are good for you. Just one of these green fruits, also known as alligator pears or butter fruit, contains about 20 vitamins and minerals.

Winter weather: A blizzard occurs when winds reach 35 miles per hour (56 kilometers per hour) or greater, and there is enough blowing and/or falling snow in the air to reduce visibility to one quarter mile (0.4 km) or less for three hours.

Fig farmers: Figs are cultivated in many areas of the world, and are a staple of most Mediterranean countries, and from Turkey to northern India. They grow on small, deciduous trees or bushes that grow as tall as 33 to 39 feet (10 to 12 meters).

Lucky Leonardo: Several other actors were considered for the role of Jack in the 1997 American movie, Titanic. They were Tom Cruise, Brad Pitt, and Jeremy Sisto. Luckily, Leonardo DiCaprio got the role, and the rest is history.

Young singers: Tito, Jermaine, Jackie, Marlon, and Michael were the Jackson brothers who made up the band The Jackson 5. Michael, who had a wildly successful solo career before he died in 2009, was the 11-year-old lead singer of the family band when it first gained fame.

On the Lighter Side

"I won't say my office is small, but my chair has to swivel up and down."

There's only one thing wrong with going through a second childhood. You can't blame your parents.

What is black, white, and red all over? A panda with the measles.

Police officer: "How could you hit that tree?"
Driver: "Well, I honked my horn, but it didn't get out of the way."

An optimist is someone who looks forward to great scenery on a detour.
